Not Just Any Day

It was a [ ] morning, and just as [ ] opened her eyes, she remembered what day it was. She stretched her arms big and squealed, "[ ]". [ ] was so [ ], because today was going to be a [ ] day! She had been thinking about it for weeks, and now it was finally here.

She hopped out of bed and [ ] downstairs. Before she even reached the [ ] she yelled, "Mommy! Today is [ ]!"

Her mom smiled brightly, nodded and handed her a plate of [ ]. "Yum," she thought.

[ ] was her favorite! She tried so hard to eat all of it but she just couldn't manage to ignore the bubbles in her stomach! She finished as much as she could and ran upstairs to put on her [ ].

She stood in front of the mirror and [ ]. She was ready!

She walked to the top of the steps, looked down, smiled and said, "[ ]".
